Rheumatism and Neuralgia

These two diseases cause untold suffering. Doctors admit that they are difficult to cure—so do their patients. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of rheumatism and neuralgia—no matter how long they have been suffered with. I have used only one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and I feel as if I can now jump about as a boy. FRANK CARROLL, BUREAU, NEVADA.

"I have been greatly afflicted with acute rheumatism, and could find no relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound. After using six bottles of this medicine I am now cured of rheumatic troubles." S. W. HODGKINSON, So. Cornish, N. H.

THE ISLES OF SALUTE.

Horrors of the French Penal Colony Off the Cayenne Coast.

The following episode was related to a correspondent of the Detroit Free Press by a United States naval officer, who was an eyewitness to the scenes, and whose phraseology I shall follow as closely as possible.

"In the year 1866 I was aboard the United States steamship Vanderbilt, Commodore John R. Rodgers commanding, and we were acting as a consort to a double-turreted monitor on its way around Cape Horn to the Pacific station. During a short of coal we put in at the Isles of Salute to obtain our supply.

"To the uninformed I must here state that the Isles of Salute are off the French Guiana coast, and are to France what Botany Bay is to England. There all noted French criminals are sent to die, or to suffer ever return to their native country. On being convicted of a crime the criminal is given a number, and by that number only he is known. His name becomes a thing of the past. If he has friends it would be an utter impossibility for them to trace him, as his name and number appear but once together, and that once upon the criminal records, which are kept perfectly secret. From this it can easily be imagined how easily he drops from the knowledge of the world when he is forwarded to the Isles of Salute to end his miserable and crime-stained life; for end it he must in one year, perhaps two years. The climate does it, and what a terrible climate it must be.

"Good heavens! never before had I seen such an assemblage of carcasses, hopes, fierce and desperate countenances. I believe the only employment that could be found for them was coaling vessels. As we lay in the harbor one thing struck me as being singular was the presence of such a large number of ravens and vultures eating sharks, some tremendous in size. The harbor was literally swarming with them and their sharp fins could be seen cutting the water in every direction. God help the one who was so unfortunate as to fall overboard there! I afterward learned that none of the convicts were ever buried upon the islands, but that the bodies of the dead had simply a weight tied to them, and were then thrown into the harbor. This custom, no doubt, explained the presence of so many sharks.

"We had completed our coaling one evening and were to sail in about two days. The sun dropped below the horizon, and as there is, practically, no twilight in that region, night soon enveloped us in her dark folds. It being sultry, there were a number of officers on the quarter-deck, among them Commodore Rodgers and myself. Some where near six bells (eleven o'clock) we were startled by hearing several exclamations, followed by a cautious call in French, from the port side of the vessel, and apparently from the water. Orders were immediately given to lower a lantern, and when this was done we beheld the form of a man, emaciated, haggard and wild-eyed, clinging to the side of the vessel. A rope was lowered; he was soon drawn aboard and brought before the Commodore. He was attired in a filthy shirt and pantaloons. One glance was sufficient to inform us that he was a convict. Speaking in French he made an appeal to our commander for protection.

"But how did you get there, man?" cried the Commodore. "Good heavens!" you never could have sworn out to the vessel!"

"At this question our minds reverted to the harbor swarming with sharks, and I, for one, could not repress a shudder at the mere thought.

"Death, no matter in what form, has no terrors for me," answered the convict. "Since coming here, I have not suffered death a thousand times over! Am I not already dead to my relatives, friends and the world? The slight hope held out to me by the coming of your vessel was sufficient. The chances of being torn to pieces by sharks did not make me shrink."

"Our imagination can scarcely grasp the import of such hopelessness. Further questions revealed to us that this poor devil had been a French soldier, and had committed the horrible crime of striking a superior officer. For that, he had been numbered and sent to the Isles of Salute to die a lingering death. Listening intently until the convict had finished, the Commodore said:

"My poor fellow, the laws of humanity cry out to me in your behalf, but I am forced to treat them as secondary considerations, no matter how unjust it may be. International laws are stronger in this case, and I must tell you that it is my imperative duty to return you."

"The Frenchman's reply staggered the Commodore somewhat. Said he: 'You are the representative of a glorious Republic, and I came to you for protection; instead, I find that I have come to hear my doom pronounced.'"

"He then informed us that those who attempted to escape, when caught, were immediately shot. But knowing his duty, the Commodore gave the necessary orders, and soon our boat was making its way towards a spot where we thought the convict would be able to pass the cordon of sentries undiscovered. Our boat could not be seen as the night was too dark. Fully three-quarters of the distance had been passed when we heard a cry from the land, followed soon after by the long roll of a drum, and torches flashed hither and thither as though in search of something. The Frenchman was landed, and our boat made its way towards the ship. Loud shouts suddenly arrested our attention, and we saw the torches gathered around a certain point, and soon moved off together. Before half an hour had passed all was still and darkness again.

"I happened to be on deck the following morning at daybreak, and had scarcely walked across the deck once when I heard the sound of a volley being fired. Taking up the glass, I pointed it toward shore. Soon a boat pulled out, manned by four convicts. A tall, cadaverous individual, dressed in a black gown, sat in the stern, and a dark object lay in the bottom. Driving nearer, the boat passed the bow of the Vanderbilt. A little beyond it stopped; the cadaverous individual read a few sentences from a book; the dark object was lifted and thrown overboard with a plunge. A rush of those hellish monsters, a deep red coloring of the water, and all was over."

A gentleman named Lord, from Alabama, some days ago had a fly suddenly enter his ear, from which it was promptly extricated. The insect then was suddenly disappeared. That night Mr. Lord experienced a sensation of itching in his ear. This grew in intensity and pain until it was unbearable. He went to Athens for relief, but remedies applied failed to afford it. Going to Woodville, he stated his case to a doctor. The acute pain had by this time nearly thrown the gentleman into convulsions. The doctor, after applying an anesthetic to his ear, inserted a copious drench, which brought out no less than eleven well-developed maggots, wriggling with robust life.

Bi-Metallism in Germany.

Rhodes' Journal of Banking for March contains the following: The subject of bi-metallism is beginning to assume importance in Germany, as well as in England and the United States. In 1873 Germany adopted the gold monometallic standard, and consequently has had about sixteen years' experience to show that there is a large party in the country represented by a majority in the Reichstag composed of Conservatives, Free Conservatives and Centrals, who are not satisfied with the waiting attitude of the Government upon the question of the standards, and desire the Chancellor to initiate negotiations for an international conference on the ratio of value of silver to gold. The attitude of the Government is undoubtedly that of one determined, if possible, to maintain the present order of things. Germany received in gold an immense indemnity from France at the close of her last war with that country. A very large part of this still remains locked up as war treasure in the fortress of Spandau.

After receiving this mass of gold Germany, whose system of personal government permits her to act more as a private individual, appears to have undertaken to appreciate her holdings by two acts, viz, locking up a large part of the gold treasure in a fortress, never to be used until another war might require it, and by demonetizing silver. Doubtless, in demonetizing the latter metal she expected that no loss on the silver would ensue to her. Those who held the demonetized silver were permitted to exchange it for gold at the prevailing rate, and a half to one. The belief was that this silver, so received, could be sent to the mints of France and the Latin Union—then open to silver—and received in five-franc pieces at the same ratio at which the German Government had received it for gold. This hope was not entirely realized, as France and the Latin Union, not relishing the prospect of coining five-franc pieces and paying more gold to Germany therefor, closed their mints. The German stock of silver has therefore been disposed of by degrees when the market price was most favorable, and probably with some loss which has been more than offset by the appreciation of the purchasing power of the stock of gold held. The adoption of the bi-metallic standard would not, therefore, be of advantage to the German Government. Neither that Government nor its citizens hold any great stock of silver, and to remonetize silver would be raising the value of what belongs to others and reduce the purchasing power of their stock of gold.

The argument of the supporters of the Chancellor in the Reichstag is not in this form. They assert that Germany is now very prosperous, and that this prosperity is due to the adoption of the gold standard in 1873. They speak of the immense stock of gold in the banks and war treasure, and assert that the financial prominence of their country is growing. While these arguments have great force, they are not necessarily sound. They may state the case correctly as far as the Government itself and the larger managers of finance are concerned, but they certainly do not appear to satisfy a very large class of people who feel that the alleged prosperity is confined to certain classes. This will explain the fact that there appears to be a majority in the Reichstag who desire that action be taken in the direction of the re-establishment of bi-metallism. As to the argument of prosperity, this may be due to another cause—the advance in German enterprise since her position as a leading nation was established by her conquest of France in 1873. Germany is, however, in financial an imitator of Great Britain. She imitated her in the demonetization of silver in 1873, and it is possible that if England should agree to re-establish the bi-metallic standard Germany would follow suit.

Suicide of a Wealthy Belgian Merchant Prince.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—In the Senate to-day Sherman offered a resolution, which was referred, for the appointment of a committee to wait upon the President to inquire if he has any other business to lay before the Senate. Cockrell, from the select committee to inquire into the methods of the business of the Executive Department, made a final report, and made a statement in regard to the condition of the business in some branches of the public service.

At the close of Cockrell's remarks the Vice-President said the report would be laid on the table and printed. Objection was made to this going on the record as a precedent for the transaction of regular business at a called session. Cockrell explained that the regular session had given permission for the presentation of this report at a called session. This obviated the objection.

Call offered a resolution, which was laid on the table for the present, declaring, first, that committees of the Senate should be organized with reference to the quality of States and their Senators in their rights, and the privileges and powers of the Senate; second, that Senators shall not be assigned to more than one of the following committees: Appropriations, Military Affairs, Naval Affairs, Judiciary, Foreign Relations, Finance, Postoffice, Public Lands, Commerce, or Interstate Commerce, until after every Senator shall have been assigned to one of them; third, that seniority of service shall give preference in the assignment of committees, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate; fourth, that each of the ten committees named shall be composed of eleven Senators. The Senate then proceeded to executive business.

Material Reduction.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Beginning next Monday the Western Union will reduce the present one-dollar rate for a ten-word dispatch to a seventy-five cent rate from any point in this State to any of the following States and Territories: Dakota, Illinois, Indiana Territory, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Texas, and Wisconsin. The rate to Idaho will be reduced from 75 to 60 cents. There will also be, within a few days, minor reductions between certain points in this State.

Wideawake Boomers.

WICHITA, Kansas, March 28.—The opening of Oklahoma was received with the firing of cannons and the display of bunting and bonfires all over Southern Kansas. So many people are going into the new country that many towns will be almost depopulated. The boomers all along the line are on the alert, and nearly every good tract already has one or more claimants. One man has already been killed in a dispute over a claim. Some already hold their rights for as high as $500.

Timber Yard Burned—A Bankrupt.

LONDON, March 28.—The Baltic timber yard near Buckingham has been burned. Loss, three hundred thousand dollars.

Lord Mandville, heir to Duke Manchester, has been pronounced a bankrupt.

Lord Fraser, Judge of the Outer House of the Scottish Court of Sessions, is dead.

John McDonald Cameron has sailed for America.

Hungry Place Hunters.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The crowd at the White House to-day is greater than ever, and the President did not have a minute to himself from the time he entered his office, about 9:30 o'clock, up to 1:30, when he escaped from the eager throng on the plea that Mrs. Harrison and a lunch were waiting for him. The district delegations were unusually numerous.

Coming Home.

LIVERPOOL, March 28.—The Chicago and All-America ball clubs sailed on the steamer Adriatic for New York to-day. A crowd gathered to see them off and gave them an ovation. The clubs are elated over their reception in Great Britain and Ireland, and they feel certain that baseball will become one of the features of British sports.

A Merchant Suicides.

ANTWERP, March 28.—Ferdinand Vandertaelen, a merchant prince of this city, committed suicide yesterday. The act was due to the failure of several alien firms, whose liabilities will probably reach a colossal sum. Vandertaelen was a leading member of the Liberal party, and has been dubbed the "John Bright of Belgium."

Will Please the Irish.

DUBLIN, March 28.—The Freeman's Journal says the appointment of Patrick Egan as Minister to Chili will greatly delight the Irishmen.

Wattersen Pleased.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27.—Regarding President Harrison's diplomatic appointments, Mr. Wattersen will say in to-morrow's Courier-Journal: "There is no denying the fact that the Administration is getting in some very astute political and party work in its appointments to office. With the exceptions of Wansmaker and Tanner, Mr. Harrison, whilst selecting active and orthodox Republicans of the most pronounced description, has shocked no popular or moral sensibility, but has rather impressed the country with the idea that he is a clear-headed, well-intentioned man, working for the best, with great intelligence, within his own party lines."

"The batch of diplomatic nominations sent to the Senate yesterday completes the list of foreign places of importance to be filled, and though creating some surprises, it will on the whole give pretty general satisfaction. The nomination of Robert Lincoln as Minister to England is at once a surprise and a ten-stroke. Taken in connection with the selection of Fred Grant for Vienna, it conveys an appeal to the young Republicanism of the period which cannot fail to have its effect. Both of these sons of illustrious sires are American gentlemen without power, but eminently to represent the country handsomely and adequately in the Old World."

"In bringing the journalism of his party to the front and stimulating that important branch of party service, the President shows both wisdom and sagacity. No better Minister to France could have been found in any walk in life than Whitelaw Reid, and no better Consul General to London than John C. New. Then we have Murat Halstead as Minister to Germany and Thorndyke Rice to Russia. Mr. Rice is editor of the North American Review—a man of many accomplishments and large fortune, whose knowledge of European life and affairs is very great, and has not been obtained by the sacrifice of Americanism. The selection of Mr. Halstead for Berlin is a particularly happy one. He is already known to the Germans. In the Franco-Prussian war he was the companion and guest of Von Moltke, met the Great Chancellor familiarly and often, and will be no stranger to the court to which he is accredited. He is personally both a handsome and brilliant man, and will appear nowhere without distinction."

"The rest of the appointments are all in the same line, particularly Patrick Egan, which at this moment must be very gratifying to the Irish on both sides of the water. It costs us nothing to say these things. The contest between the Democratic and Republican parties four years hence will turn upon irreconcilable antagonisms of opinion. In the meantime it is of interest to all men to have the business of the country—particularly our representation abroad—in the hands of capable and good men, as it can never be to the interest of any party to raise false personal issues or deny politically that measure of justice which, socially, no one would think of withholding."

"All the appointments we have named are individually excellent, and from a purely partisan standpoint made with admirable discernment and keen foresight."

Republican Senators in Caucus.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Republican Senators, in caucus to-day, decided to drop the matter of the employment of personal clerks at the Government expense, but adopted a resolution to give Senator Vance of North Carolina a personal clerk. He has lost one eye and the sight of the other is failing, and his Republican colleagues deemed it only just that he should be spared the necessity of using his remaining eye to conduct his official correspondence. It was also finally decided not to continue debate on the Southern election outrages. The general opinion, so far as expressed, was that the Senate might reasonably expect to be able to adjourn Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

Will Decide on Merit.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Attorney General Miller said to-day, in answer to an inquiry on the subject, that he had not outlined any general plan for his policy in regard to Marshals and District Attorneys appointed by the last Administration. So far as he was concerned, each case would be considered on its own merits. He did not look upon partisanship as a very serious thing in itself, providing the official was efficient and gentlemanly.

Yellow Fever and Smallpox.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The steamer Horrix from Rio Janeiro reports that when she went into port at Santos on February 15th she found the town pest ridden with yellow fever, and smallpox also raged with great fury at Rio Janeiro, with deaths numbering thirty a day.

BERNE, March 28.—The Federal Council, suspecting in the event of a Franco-German war that Germany would violate the territory of Switzerland, has recommended the adoption of credit for the purpose of fortifying St. Gothard.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Northern Pacific is again in session considering the proposed leasing of the Wisconsin Central. No action has yet been taken.

Dr. Swineburne Dead.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 28.—Dr. John Swineburne, the eminent surgeon, died this morning.

Too Far North.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—A special to the Examiner from Ensenada, Lower California, says: A discovery is reported here which is said to be filling the International Land Company people with dread. It is said that by a mistake in the English maps at the time of the treaty of Gualtupipe Hidalgo, the boundary line between the United States and Mexico was placed ten miles too far north, and that the real boundary terminates on the Pacific Ocean at a point some distance south of Ensenada. The treaty prescribes that the line shall cut the mouth of the Colorado river, but English maps—the only maps extant at that time—had the Gila river, whose mouth is near Yuma, incorrectly marked as the Colorado river. The mouth of the Colorado is 60 miles south of Yuma, at Point Isabel, and if the boundary line were to be drawn at that point it would place the Meade, the town of Ensenada and all the country north of these places within the limits of the United States.

Another Maxwell-Preller Case.

PORT HURON, March 27.—Two strangers came to Smith's Creek, a small station about twelve miles from here, last evening, and engaged a man named Maxwell. The men were about 30 years of age and the older considerably younger. The latter left the hotel early in the evening. The older man did not appear this morning, and the room was broken into. He was found lying across the bed with his throat cut from ear to ear, dead. The authorities are making every effort to locate the companion of the dead stranger, but so far without result.

Returned to Work.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 28.—All the mills are running to-day except the American Linen Mill; and nearly all with their complement of weavers. The linen mills were not ready to start, on account of the non-completion of some repairs to the machinery. The weavers were given their old looms.

Ripe Old Age.

The Sacramento Record-Union says:

Mr. R. R. St. Rose of the Capital Iron Works of this city has bored well on R. D. Stephens' place, near Mayhew Station, which is the largest in this section of the State. It is thirty-two inches in diameter and 120 feet in depth. It is not only the largest bored well in the State, but it furnishes more water than any other. In fact, it is an inexhaustible reservoir that cannot be lowered. A sixty-horse-power engine works a large centrifugal pump that throws over 32,000,000 gallons per day. The water is pure and sweet, and is used for all purposes. It is a great blessing to the community, and will supply the city with water for all purposes. The water is pure and sweet, and is used for all purposes. It is a great blessing to the community, and will supply the city with water for all purposes.

Mr. Stephens' water plant has cost him considerable money, but he is now in condition not only to irrigate his own place, but to supply his neighbors for miles around.

The Oldest Obelisk.

The oldest of all the obelisks is the beautiful one of rosy granite which stands alone among the green fields on the banks of the Nile, not far from Cairo. It is the gravestone of a great ancient city which has vanished and left only this relic behind. The city was the Behihemesh of the Scripture, the famous On, which is memorable to all Bible readers as the residence of the priest of Potiphar, whose daughter, Asenath, Joseph married. The Greeks call it Heliopolis, the city of the sun, because there the worship of the sun had its chief center and its most sacred shrines.

Needs a Guardian.

John B. Haskins, ex-Congressman of New York, while stopping at the Nadeau Hotel, Los Angeles, ran against a gang of buxco men, who managed to obtain four checks, aggregating $5,000 and $150 cash before he discovered he was duped.

A New Industry.

The mills of the San Diego Iron Works at Roseville, Cal., turned out their first product last Monday in the shape of galvanized iron wire cloth. The wire and nail departments will be opened soon.

Permanently Republicans.

Oregon has 1,518 school districts, 36,547 school children, 2,091 teachers, 1,384 school houses and $1,294,217.50 invested in school property.

Expand the Mind.

By seeing as much as you can of the world. But ere you set out either as a tourist, commercial traveler or emigrant—whether you go by rail, steamship or steamboat, provide yourself with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which the traveling public recognizes as the finest medical safeguard and preventive of sea sickness with which any one journeying by land or water can be provided. It furnishes the western traveler adequate protection against malaria, rheumatism, and those disorders of the bowels which mislead tainted water beget. Its sedative effect upon a stomach perturbed by the rocking of a ship is truly magical, and it is a capital appetizer and nerve invigorator. Excellent as it is for biliousness and kidney action, and it counteracts, in a remarkable degree, the effects of fatigue, physical or mental. After setting sail, exposure to inclement weather, it should be used as a preventive.

The immediate symptoms of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are a distressing sense of weight, oppression and fullness in the stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, flatulency, belching, acidity, and nausea. Dr. H. W. Fowler's Food Purifier is a most reliable remedy for all these troubles. It is a most reliable remedy for all these troubles. It is a most reliable remedy for all these troubles.

WASP COMPOSITION.

A Wholesome Fear of a Big "Stinger."

A wasp is a six-legged bird that lives mostly in trees and under the eaves of barns and you cannot tame him; he is too busy. Never stroke his fur the wrong way, because it makes him mad, and when a wasp is mad I don't want nuthin' to do with him. He has what they call a "stinger," and when he goes out a stinging boys must keep away from him. I leaned up again once when he was busy and jumped as much as a feet. Ma had to put a mud pie on the place. I hit a wasp's nest with a stone once, and the boss wasp chased me clean across the lot so fast that when I got over the fence I tore my pants; then pa spanked me till I wished I had let the old wasp sting me.

Some wasps make honey, but if their honey is as hot as their stingerin' I don't want none. Pa says the stingerin' ain't so bad at first as the recklessness of it for a few days. He ought to know cos me and my brother Ike got on the roof and poked a big nest from the peak down in the barnyard while pa was milkin'.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say nothing Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklin's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merit. S. J. Hodgkinson druggist.

Rich food and lack of exercise, during the winter months, causes the blood to become torpid and the system impure. A dose or two of St. Patrick's Pills will cleanse and invigorate the system, purify the blood and do more good than a dollar bottle of blood purifier. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Notice to Builders.

Proposals will be received until 12 o'clock a. m. of Monday next, April 1, 1889, for the construction of a two-story mansard roof building, to be erected upon the Nevada State University grounds at Reno, Washoe county, Nevada. Plans and specifications are on file at the State University building. Every bid must be sealed and accompanied by a certified check in the sum of two hundred dollars to be forfeited in case of failure to sign the contract and give sufficient bond within two days after contract is awarded. Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being, in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Webfoot State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a host to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by William Finner.

A Cough, Cold, or Hoarse Throat should not be neglected. Brown's Bronchial Trochans are a simple remedy, and give prompt relief. 25 cts. a box.

WHERE IS THE GIRL?

Mr. and Mrs. Potts Called Upon to Produce Mary.

The Elko Independent of the 26th inst. says: From a reliable source we learn that the telegraph operator who four years ago was stationed at Terrace, Utah, where the Potts family lived at the time, says that at that time a lady, who is now the operator's wife, taught the Terrace school, and that two of her pupils were Charley and Ida Potts, the latter 6 or 7 years of age, the children of Joseph and Elizabeth Potts. The question now is: Where is Ida Potts? If Mr. and Mrs. Potts can satisfactorily account for the girl it will be much in their favor in securing a commutation of their sentence from that of death to imprisonment for life. There are a number of persons who will use their influence to secure a commutation, provided the missing girl can be accounted for, who otherwise will make no move in the matter, and Mr. and Mrs. Potts owe it to themselves and the public, to clear up the mystery attending the child's disappearance.

An independent reporter visited Mrs. Potts this afternoon for the purpose of ascertaining what she had to say about the missing girl. Mrs. Potts frankly admits that she has a daughter, now about 13 years old, who is living with a family in Utah, whose name and address were given. She consented that these parties should be informed that, provided that the child should not be made aware of the circumstances. We hope to be able in the course of a few days to demonstrate that the girl is living and well provided for.

Unlimited Pardon.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: For chastened gall this takes the cake. An Eastern invalid writes a Salt Lake man that he was a college classmate of the latter's deceased brother, and, as he did not relish the noise and clatter of a hotel, he would be pleased to stop with the Salt Lake man during a stay he was to make in Zion; also, the invalid would be greatly pleased to have his friend show him the sights of Zion. Mr. Invalid was quickly informed that, while his Salt Lake correspondent was fairly delirious with joy at the prospect of entertaining him, still the self-issued invitation must be declined with thanks, as said correspondent's wife's health did not admit of her entertaining company.

Temperance Address.

Miss Burnett delivered a temperance address under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. last evening in the Baptist Church, Mrs. Rev. Van Deventer, of Virginia, State President of the W. C. T. U., presiding. The speaker gave her audience many good thoughts, which we think will take root and bring abundant fruit. She will speak again on prohibition next week, and will be duly announced.

New Postmaster.

A Tacoma, W. T., dispatch of the 26th inst. says: Nearly everybody is rejoicing here at the appointment of a new Postmaster to-day by President Harrison. John D. Hogue, the appointee, is an old citizen and business man, 51 years of age, formerly from Illinois. He relieves an ex-Confederate soldier, who has held the office for one year. The complaints against the office have been ceaseless during that time.

Auction of Buggies and Wagons.
 I will sell at auction, in order to make room for a new invoice of goods, Saturday, April 6, a fine lot of buggies, wagons and carts. Most of these goods are new, and some are of the best manufacture. The sales to commence at 2 p. m., in front of the Opera House Dry Goods Store. W. J. LARKE.
 C. W. BOOTON, Auctioneer.

Corrected.

Mr. Martin Barron, the deceased proprietor of the City Hotel, left no surviving relatives but his wife, who is a sister to Mr. Thomas Welch, instead of wife, as the informant stated. The funeral will take place from the City Hotel to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, thence proceeding to the Roman Catholic Church and burial ground.

The Key Hole Spy.

The Supreme Court of California has just decided that a husband and wife cannot be held accountable for what the say in their private bedroom, and that the testimony of a man whose ear has been glued to the key hole don't count. This disposes of the miserable, mercenary, key hole eavesdropper in the Courts, as he should do.

Held to Answer.

The Silver State says: William Hayes and the colored gentleman, Julius Caesar Bly, were examined before Justice Archer for passing counterfeit money and held to answer before the next Grand Jury. Their bail was fixed at $1,000 each, and, in default of the requisite security, they were consigned to jail.

A Favorable Report Expected.
 The report of the Senate Committee on Mines and Mining regarding the cutting of scrub timber promises justice to the miners and gives a good slap to over-zealous officials, who have sought to make fees by bringing vexatious suits against persons engaged in developing the mineral resources of the country.

OCEAN STEAMERS.

Continuous Improvements Being Made.

The new steamship City of Paris is a sister ship to the City of New York, on the first voyage of which James G. Blaine came over last Summer. The two ships were expected by their designers to be the swiftest and safest steamships ever built. The New York has not come up to expectations in the matter of speed, as two or three ships are faster. But in all other respects she seems to have filled the full measure of her designers. She has many compartments, and then one mighty partition runs from stem to stern, so that while the one side might be flooded and the engine stopped, the other would be working without trouble, because the ship has double screws, which work independent of each other. The two ships are about the finest achievement in mechanics that has ever consummated.

SQUIRREL FISHING.

How California Ranchers Amuse Themselves.

The Merced Express says squirrel fishing is a new popular pastime. The rig is a Kern county bamboo pole, with a long stout line and short steel-wire leader, with an ordinary sized trout hook fastened to the wire. The bait is boiled corn or potato, such as carp fishermen use at Stockton slough. But squirrels are more active game than carp, and have to be flung sky-high like a trout from a long rifle, at the very moment they tackle the bait. The bait has to be dropped quickly about six or eight inches from the squirrel hole and watched attentively. A squirrel properly hooked and thrown far from his burrow is stunned by the fall and easily held under foot, killed and unhooked. Squirrel fishing, like rabbit driving, is a modern San Joaquin Valley discovery.

Ventilating Bees.

According to Miss Eva M. A. Brewster of Mauritius, Ohio, it is a well authenticated fact that each hive in tropical countries has its "ventilating bees" during the hot season. Two or three of these bees are stationed at the entrance of the hive, and cool the interior by incessant fanning with their wings. They are relieved at intervals by others, and while on duty are kept constantly at work by a sort of patrol of bees.

Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving a cent, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Glitch's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails.
